

A Modern Global Financial Analysis Solution

D&B Global Financials

Gain deeper insights into financial performance of companies worldwide to make better informed decisions and capture greater opportunity.

Doing business internationally can be a challenge. In today's international business environment your customers and business partners are often located in other countries. Understanding the financial performance of your customers, prospects, suppliers or partners is key to assess the risks and opportunities of doing business together.

The problem? With each country having its own filing requirements and financial reporting standards, assessing their financial performance in a uniform manner can be a real challenge. In addition, laws and filing regulations are subject to change which makes it hard to maintain any harmonized views you may have created. With many businesses now seeking to optimise operating processes using financial data to drive strategy and risk assessments, the disparity of international financial templates makes it complex to assess financial data and drive decisions. That's about to change with a new global financial analysis tool, created by a unique collaboration between CRIF, Altares, TSR, & Dun & Bradstreet and the data of the D&B Worldwide Network: D&B Global Financials.
